

FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

by Lori Thompson

Last month, we celebrated QOVF's 20th Anniversary Conference and enjoyed celebrating at our first conference together in four years! We kicked off the conference on the evening of September 13 with the beautiful All-Star Quilts of Valor exhibit at the National Quilt Museum. We were lucky to be joined by Tony Jacobson, Sue Reich, Mary Kerr, and Marianne Fons, who each designed a quilt for the book.

Lori Thompson
Executive Director

Over the next two days, we honored our history and made plans to forge QOVF's future. Special guests joined us, sharing their experiences and contributions to QOVF's history. Partners came and celebrated, too, sharing their connections to QOVF and future projects to help continue supporting QOVF's mission. It was wonderful to meet so many QOVF members in person! After meeting with so many people online for the past two years, it was great to be together in the same room.

There were many great moments at the conference, but my favorite was the Anniversary Retrospective during the conference opening session. Susan Gordon and Ann Rehbein, former QOVF Executive Directors; Marianne Fons, Board Member; and Chaplain John Kallerson each shared special memories and important moments about their chapters with QOVF. There was so much to learn about QOVF from each speaker's perspective! It was inspiring to hear about how Catherine Roberts and Chaplain Kallerson met and how the first QOVs were awarded at Walter Reed Hospital. It was impressive how this fledgling grassroots movement gained momentum as more people learned about Quilts of Valor.

During Susan Gordon's chapter, it was impressive to see how volunteers came together across the country to create the foundation, policies, and procedures that structure and govern our organization today. Many of those volunteers are still active today and their legacy continues to support QOVF.

Connection to the quilting industry was the hallmark of Marianne Fons' chapter. It was great to see how Marianne connected QOVF and raised our profile with the industry, connecting us to partners we still work with today. Marianne's work also laid the foundation of QOVF's presence in Winterset, Iowa, where our brick-and-mortar office is today.

It was impressive to see the exponential growth during Ann Rehbein's chapter when membership and quilt awards grew significantly. I can't imagine it was easy to support such incredible growth in a short period of time. But Ann built a solid volunteer executive staff that helped create a solid foundation for QOVF during this time and also for the future.

My chapter focused on where we've been the last two years. I was a bit emotional talking about keeping our community connected with the challenge of the pandemic, given the different impact across the country. I shared stories from members setting up drive-up awards, Zoom ceremonies, and other ways members pivoted to award quilts during this challenging time. I also shared how our members stayed strong and committed during this time, with membership staying pretty steady despite the challenges. We also celebrated being back together making and awarding QOVs and being together after four long years.

While listening to each chapter in our history, it became clear to me that we have all had a special place in QOVF's history. Our efforts have mattered. Throughout the last 20 years, we've come together, addressing the challenges and leveraging the opportunities to ensure those we serve are wrapped in Quilts of Valor. I hope you will take a moment and think about your history with QOVF and what you've contributed to our larger story. Your efforts have mattered. Thank you for being a part of QOVF and being on this journey together!

CHAPLAIN KALLERSON AWARDED HIS OWN QOV

By Lori Thompson, Executive Director

A special highlight at QOVF's 20th Anniversary Conference was the awarding of a Quilt of Valor® to Chaplain John Kallerson. Chaplain Kallerson worked with Catherine Roberts to award the first Quilt of Valor at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D.C., in the early 2000s. During the conference Chaplain Kallerson shared how he met Catherine and how she encouraged him to award quilts in the hospital. He shared how the awards grew with just a few quilts and how the quilts outgrew his office, then a storage cabinet, finally growing into a large storage closet at the hospital.

It was not surprising that he had not received his own Quilt of Valor, ensuring that other service members received one to provide comfort and healing. Several QOVF members felt it was time to remedy this and award the chaplain his own quilt. On Friday morning of the conference, Sue Reich, Michelle Nelson, and Nancy Cann awarded Chaplain Kallerson a beautiful Quilt of Valor made by Nancy.

Chaplain Kallerson served in the U.S. Army for 34 years and rose to the rank of Colonel. He spent 24 years of his military career serving as a chaplain. Chaplain Kallerson served with the Rangers 82nd Airborne and was deployed to Iraq, El Salvador, as well as other duty stations.

He comes from a long legacy of military service in his family dating back to the War of 1812. It was our privilege to honor Chaplain Kallerson with his own Quilt of Valor and thank him for all the comfort and healing he has provided for the groundbreaking work he did awarding QOVs at Walter Reed Hospital.

HONORING A WWII HERO

By Carole McLean, Holland, MI

On July 8, 2023, the Michigan community came together to honor Louis S., a valiant WWII veteran who served with distinction from 1943 to 1945 in the United States Army 179th Infantry Division, known as the Thunderbirds. In a heartfelt ceremony, Louis was bestowed with a well-deserved Quilt of Valor, symbolizing gratitude and admiration for his service. Throughout his military career, Louis exhibited immense bravery and dedication, earning two Purple Hearts for his sacrifices in combat in Africa and Europe.

The presentation took place in the company of his beloved adopted family, Jason & Amy and their five children;

Jason's parents, as well as his brother, wife and three children. In addition, in attendance were members from the American Legion in Holland and Zeeland; representatives from the local VFW; retired Army veterans Norm & Cindy B.; along with Vern & Ken B. from the Quest Ministries, which raises funds for annual retreats for Purple Heart recipients.

As Louis approaches his centennial in December, it is remarkable to witness his vitality and the love he shares with his adopted families in Michigan & Florida. The Quilt of Valor was crafted by Carole McLean who has made over 100 quilts for servicemembers. Fueled by deep respect for veterans, Carole gladly accepted the task of creating a unique quilt for Louis, adorned with service pictures of him and his family that surrounded an American Flag panel.

It is through the generosity and dedication of community members like these that we ensure our veterans' sacrifices are never forgotten. The Quilt of Valor serves as a reminder of our deep appreciation for those who have selflessly defended our freedom. Let us continue to celebrate and cherish the stories of these remarkable individuals, preserving the legacies for generations to come. Their courage and sacrifices have paved the way for the freedom and security we enjoy today.

2023—A SUMMER TO REMEMBER

*Submitted by Col. (Retired) Waleska Pizarro
QOV Volunteer Member*

Dear friends invited us to join them on an RV summer trip along the northeast United States. My husband and I immediately accepted this journey, one full of beauty and history at the same time. Having our dearest friends with us was to become “A Summer to Remember.” It also occurred to me that this journey would present the perfect opportunity to award Colonel (Retired) Ivan M. a well-deserved Quilt of Valor.

Ivan and I were deployed with the United States Army to Afghanistan at the same time, but in different military units. I knew Ivan was eligible and deserving of a QOV, so I consulted with his wife Josie to find the perfect moment for this beautiful ceremony to take place. We decided to award the QOV during one of his favorite parts of the day: sunrise. Ivan was awarded his Quilt of Valor immediately after watching the sunrise at the Acadia National Park Cadillac Mountain summit (1,530 feet) in Bar Harbor, Maine. Cadillac Mountain is the highest point in the eastern seaboard of the United States. The views were spectacular, and the moment was perfect for such a solemn event. Many were in awe of the ceremony taking place.

Ivan is a native of Bronx, New York. He enlisted in the Army in 1980 as a Material Storage and Handling Supply Specialist. In May of 1990 he was commissioned as a Second Lieutenant in the Army Signal Corps through the Reserve Officers’ Training Corps from the University of Puerto Rico. Ivan had years of distinguished service to his country including serving in various positions at Company, Battalion, and Brigade level and also served in numerous staff positions at different levels of command. His command assignments consisted of the 25th Signal Battalion, Bagram, Afghanistan, Operation Enduring Freedom; San Juan Recruiting Company, Miami Recruiting Battalion; and HHD 41st Signal Battalion, Yongsan, Korea. Other deployments include Restore Hope, Mogadishu, Somalia. Col. Ivan has been married to Josie for 35 years, and they are blessed with two children. The journey along the northeast states was fantastic, sewing this quilt was very special and heartfelt, but making this QOV award presentation possible was an honor for all of us.

DOUBLY BLESSED

By Sheila Strobel, Parrottville, TN

On Saturday, August 5, the Parrottville Quilts of Valor guild awarded six veterans with Quilts of Valor. This unique group of veterans, "US military Vets MC," ride motorcycles. They continue to serve their country after military service by raising money for various organizations in the area. We were blessed to be able to award Quilts of Valor to these veterans. Additionally, their group donated $1,600 back to our group for a memory quilt featuring Elvis Presley. We were doubly blessed!

IOWA MEMBERS RECOGNIZE TEN HEROES

Submitted by Diane Weide, North Central Iowa Quilts of Valor (NCIA-QOV)

Dougherty is a small rural community in Cerro Gordo County of Iowa. The most recent census shows its population as 62. However, its size does not equal its commitment to community, faith, and family. In 2014, under the chairmanship of Dennis C., the not-for-profit S.T.P.A.T.S. (Society to Preserve Antiquated Town Structures) acquired the 142-year-old Catholic Church and former parochial school. The property became a museum and community center. The American Legion Brislin-Hogan Post 354 and Auxiliary use this center for their meetings and programs.

On September 14, 2023, the NCIA-QOV provided an award ceremony at this community center for ten area veterans. Commander Dennis, with the Legion and Auxiliary members, provided the honored veterans, the veterans' family and friends, and the NCIA-QOV members with an evening to remember. It started with a meal for the 90+ attendees. Following the meal was the QOV program that was supplemented with three videos honoring our veterans and country. Commander Dennis was one of the recipients and was awarded the NCIA-QOV version of the 20th Anniversary QOV pattern, "Twenty Stars for Twenty Years."

The eldest veteran honored that evening was Carl S. who entered a volunteer program in 1944 at the age of 16. Carl served in the Merchant Marines as part of the United States Coast Guard under federal orders. Carl was part of a mission called the Murmansk Run, also known as a Suicide Run, an Allied convoy of ships that made a dangerous cruise through the Arctic waters during harsh weather. These convoys delivered millions of tons of supplies to the Russian Army and sustained great loss of life. Years later, Carl was invited to the Russian Embassy in Washington, DC, to receive the Russian Hero Medal and the Russian War Medal for his participation in helping the Russian Army remove Hitler. Carl also served two years in the United States Army. Carl enjoyed visiting with other veterans about his military experience. Carl's two sons said they heard more stories that night than they had heard their entire life.

MONTANA GROUPS AWARD QOVs

Submitted by Debbie Tomell, Western Montana Coordinator

Over the last eight months the groups from Western and Central Montana had been planning and preparing for one of the largest presentations in Montana at the Columbia Falls Veterans Home. What better place to honor our veterans than at this Veterans Home to fulfill the mission of the Quilts of Valor Foundation: to cover veterans touched by war with healing quilts. This facility can house up to 100 veterans and has medical and long-term residents. As the Coordinator for our Western Montana QOV group, I was excited and intimidated by the number of quilts that might be needed for this event.

Our State Coordinator Sue Giskaas obtained the veteran list and the total number of veterans would be 54. Several of the residents had already been honored with quilts in 2019 by the Western Montana QOV group. The Central Montana group would provide 30 of the 54 QOVs needed and Western Montana provided the remainder. These two QOV groups, supported by many Quilt Guild members in Montana, began sewing in preparation for the event. With amazing quilters, we exceeded our goal of 54 quilts and had ample extra quilts for future awards in both groups.

On September 6, 2023, eight representatives of Montana QOV groups were honored to present the 54 quilts at the Columbia Falls Veterans Home. On arrival, our contact gave us a revised list with four new names and a few veterans who were no longer at the facility. We had come prepared with extra quilts, so our group immediately added names to labels and created new certificates and thank you notes.

Approximately 35 veterans gathered in a lovely courtyard to receive their quilts on a bright sunny day. We arranged the quilts with the certificates and thank you letters on tables. For Vietnam-era veterans, a special commemorative lapel pin was also attached to the label of the quilt with a ribbon of blue or red. Debbie Tomell and Sue Giskass presented a short explanation of the purpose of a Quilt of Valor and to thank each veteran for their courageous service to the United States. The ceremony was attended by many family, friends, and staff, as well as a local broadcasting station, KPAX.

As names were called out, veterans threw up a hand and said "here" or staff assisted in pointing out the more reserved veterans. Six members took turns presenting the beautiful quilts to each veteran. There were many smiles, a few tears, and overall, a great amount of gratitude shown by these worthy men and women. Delicious apple pie and huckleberry ice cream topped off the celebration. Veterans unable to attend were later presented quilts in their rooms.

KPAX featured the presentation and reported on the QOV process. Thanks to Janet Gustuson, Connie Crieg and Linda Hanson—Western MT QOV, and to Sue Giskaas, Jeanne Ingram, Barb Callender and Vicki Converse, Central MT QOV, for assisting in the presentation. A special thanks to Mike T. and Gus G. for the support and assistance at the event. With the additional quilts prepared, we look forward to covering many more veterans in Montana in the weeks and months to come.

VETERANS RECOGNIZED AT THE WESTERN MINNESOTA STEAM THREASHERS REUNION

By Pat Otto and Lou Ann Lee, Stitching Hearts QOV group, North Dakota

Every Labor Day weekend the Western Minnesota Steam Threshers Reunion (WMSTR) meets in Rollag, Minnesota. This four-day annual event brings visitors from all over the United States and Canada. WMSTR normally highlights a line of steam engines or tractors, but the 2023 theme was "Honoring our Veterans and Military."

Each year the Expo Building is where the feature for that year is highlighted. WMSTR volunteers were there to register veterans visiting the show. Each veteran was given a special pin that identified them as a veteran. The building also included a display of older military uniforms and weapons, with veterans available to answer questions. There were several older military vehicles and other various equipment on site, a Sherman tank, and a fly over of military warbirds during the parades. Even though it was sweltering hot for all four days, WMSTR registered over 1,300 veterans. The extreme temperatures in the 90s each day limited some of the visitors that normally would have attended the show.

Since a few of our QOVF members are also WMSTR members and had heard in 2022 that veterans and the military would be the theme for the 2023 show, our Stitching Hearts Quilts of Valor group requested to be a part of the exhibition in an effort to spread the word about the Quilts of Valor Foundation. Our QOVF group had a booth, spreading information about the Quilts of Valor Foundation and where we displayed two finished quilts along with scrapbooks showing awards that had been done over the past few years. Two members manned the booth at all times over the four-day event. We were able to greet the veterans and thank them for their service. We distributed several nomination forms and listened to many stories about their time in service. Tears were shed by a few veterans as they told us about their time in the service and also when they heard that QOVF wanted to recognize them for their service.

Twelve of our fifteen members were able to participate in this event over Labor Day weekend. It was a very heart-warming activity where we spread the word about the Quilts of Valor Foundation to many who had never heard of this wonderful organization.

BROTHERS RECOGNIZED FOR THEIR SERVICE

*Submitted by Joanie Findle
Pocono Mountain Quilts of Valor,
Stroudsburg, PA*

On September 5, 2023, family and friends of Joseph and Vincent K. gathered at Joseph's Perryopolis, PA, home to honor and thank the two brothers for their service to our country. Joanie, daughter of Vincent and niece of Joseph, pieced the quilts specifically for each recipient, and Laura quilted Joseph's quilt, the backing of which portrays various WWII era aircraft, including a B-24 Liberator, the type of plane Joseph flew on his missions during WWII. Joanie, a member of the Pocono Mountain Quilts of Valor chapter, presented the quilts to the heroes with the help of her sister Genie and cousin JoAnne. Family friends, Harold and Joanne, captured the evening with photos and video, allowing extended family across the country to share in the special gathering.

In 1942, while still in high school, Joseph served as a Civil Air Patrol cadet, an Air Raid Warden, and as an Airplane Spotter with the Civil Defense in Uniontown, PA. Upon graduating from high school in 1943, Joseph enlisted in the Army Air Corp and was called up on January 5, 1944. Prior to his enlistment, he became the first Eagle Scout from Uniontown BSA Troop #2 and later served as their scoutmaster. In the Army Air Corp he flew as a ball turret gunner on a B-24 Liberator with the 15th Air Force, 464th Bomb Group, in Italy. Joseph completed 35 combat missions and was awarded the Air Medal with two Oak Leaf clusters, the European Theater Operations Medal with five Battle Stars, the American Defense Medal, the Good Conduct Medal, and the WWII Victory Medal. The 464th Bomb Group was awarded a Presidential Distinguished Unit Citation for its combat action in leading the 55th Bombardment Wing formation through an extremely heavy anti-aircraft barrage and 60 aggressive enemy fighter aircraft, to bomb the oil refineries in Vienna, Austria, resulting in the complete destruction of vital installations critical to the German war effort. His five battle stars were awarded for his participation in the following major campaigns: Battle of the North Apennines, Air War Balkans, Battle of Central Europe, Battle of the Rhineland, and Battle for Po Valley. Joseph was honorably discharged in October 1945 with the rank of Staff Sergeant.

After the war, Joseph earned his degree from Duquesne University and subsequently worked as an engineer for Westinghouse Electric Corporation, retiring in 1986. Joseph and his wife Phyllis have 4 children, 11 grandchildren and 1 great grandchild (with another on the way). Joseph, an avid model plane builder, passed on his interest in aviation to a son and grandson who became licensed pilots, enabling the decorated veteran to once again leave the bounds of the earth for the skies.

Vincent, a Korean War veteran, enlisted in the Army on December 8, 1950, and reported to Basic Training at Fort Knox, KY. This assignment was followed by Signal School at Fort Devens, MA; additional basic training at Camp Pickett, VA; and Maneuver Exercises at Southern Pines, NC, near Fort Bragg. In the fall of 1951, Vincent departed from Oakland, CA, for Yokohama, Japan, where he boarded a ship that took him to Pusan, South Korea. After a month of instruction in the Chinese language, Vincent moved north as a member of the 12-man 329th Comm Recon Company. The eight operators of this team were assigned to various Marine and Army units to gather intelligence, and they broke all thirteen known Chinese codes within four weeks, an accomplishment for which Vincent and his team were awarded citations. In recognition of his distinguished service and performance, Vincent earned an additional citation, as well as the Ambassador for Peace Medal, the Good Conduct Medal, the Korean War Medal, the National Defense Medal, the United Nations Medal, and the Korean Service Medal with two battle stars.

Vincent spent a year stateside as an instructor in the Army. He was honorably discharged at the rank of Technical Sergeant in December 1953, and shortly after, enrolled in the University of Pittsburgh where he earned a degree in Electrical Engineering. Vincent met his wife-to-be in 1954, and they married in August 1959. The young couple moved to Rochester, NY, and Vincent earned his master's degree in applied mathematics from the Rochester Institute of Technology in 1968. He applied his expertise at General Railway Signal, where he accrued six patents, retiring in 1994 after thirty years with the company.

Vincent and his wife Frances still live in the Rochester, NY, area. For several decades they trained their golden retrievers and traveled the East Coast for field trial competitions. Vincent continues to enjoy the lifelong passions of gardening and woodworking, and his optimism, compassion, and work ethic continue to enrich the lives of those who know him.
